Comments	I have been a neighbour across the road from Eisai for a number of years and each time there is some form of work carried out there is always an issue in noise at unreasonable hours in the morning. Even at weekends. Plus my other concern is the type of chemicals the would be stored? What guarantee would there be to safe handling of these chemicals? Iver noticed works have already been carried out at said location (extensive work at that) so regardless of peoples objections or not will this be approved anyhow? I fear it will.
