The appointment was to confirm some of the fields that we needed to complete. We weren't sure if we needed to select 'No' or 'Yes' on the full planning submission portal for some of the fields. The duty planning officer provided guidance on those fields.

We also wanted an opportunity to confirm that we are applying for the right permission. This is important for us considering the previous application that was refused was for a certificate of lawfulness. What we needed to have applied for was a full planning permission i.e. C3 to C2 change of use for a children's home. The duty planning officer confirmed that the refusal was not only based on wrong planning application made but also doesn't provide much details on the intent. This echoes the refusal letter.

We were advised correctly that it is a full planning permission that we need to submit with as much supporting documents as possible.

Met with Ms Ransome as the Duty Planning Officer on this appointment.

The appointment held today and as we wanted to submit a new application today. We have selected January 26th which was the appointment confirmation date as received in a mail as the above field requires a date before today. (We don't want to miss another day considering the application cycle, we had the appointment today and wanted to submit today)

Thanks for your kind understanding.
