Hi Mark,

To confirm our conversation.

The overall landscape plan is reasonable for this type of site. The number, locations and overall layout are fine but the schedule of species needs minor amendments. Some identified species are inappropriate for their allotted locations due to their natural growth form and some trees specified on the schedule are not obtainable in the sizes etc. specified. These are minor amendments which could be resolved via condition at a later date as I am sure there will be other landscape changes as the development proceeds.
