Comments	<input type="text" value="I haven't seen convincing evidence that this area can meet the needs of future residents without destroying the existing residents. This is another attempt to trade poorly designed and conceived urban areas for countryside, flora and fauna. Red deer, Muntjac, Barn Owls and Red Kites reside here and will be driven away if permission to build more character-less properties on one of the few remaining wild areas left from the closure of BAe. Experts agree that creating joined up wild areas is the way forward not isolating pockets of wildlife. The land is ill suited to further development without causing long term damage to the wildlife, the perceived well being of residents/park users as well as depriving future generations of the joy of exploring and discovering the nature on their doorstep."/>
