Comments	<input type="text" value="It seems to me that this is a quite cynical use of 'affordable housing ' to promote it over and above the constraints of the Green Belt. In any event seeking to put them where there is no services and no bus service to get to where they are, is not fair to the clients of this developer. Such aspiring house owners will be forced to acquire a vehicle because movement to such as schools, train stations, doctors and shops, would be impossible without. Traffic and pollution is the result, with the junction of Cattlegate Road being particularly dangerous. The Green Belt is all about restricting urban spread and thus retaining some of our countryside and its wildlife. It must be protected for our future generations. I urge that the application be refused and the LA not to be seduced by affordable housing as this site is not the answer."/>
