Comments	<input type="text" value="As a Welwyn Garden City resident, I am concerned that some of the planned buildings are 9 floors high. Welwyn Garden City is a town of houses with gardens, built on Ebenezer Howard's Garden City principles, a marriage of town and country. The town isn't a city. To have such tall buildings will be a real blight on our landscape. The maximum height of the buildings should be no more than 4 stories high. I firmly object to any building being more than four stories in height on the Wheat Quarter site."/>
