Comments	<input type="text" value="High rise dwellings will impact negatively on the whole concept of a Garden City which residents and the reason many came to the area initially. Dwellings can be built in a much more aesthetically pleasing way than 11/12 storey blocks more in keeping with Stevenage and Hatfield. While many Councils are moving away from these high rise blights on the landscape WHBC seems to be moving towards them. I don't see any of this type of housing consideration in Letchworth, the garden city upon which WGC was based."/>
