Dear Sir

I am writing to express my anxiety over the delay in a decision in the case of the Tesco application.

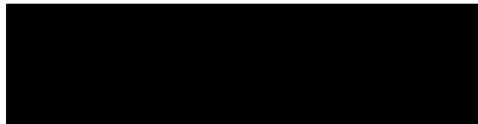

I assume that the rebuilding of Sainsbury's store had been successfully negotiated long before Tesco made their application. As first made public, the Tesco blandishments appeared very seductive, but when we were shown their drawings of what was in fact intended, it became clear that there was no intention of fulfilling them. There was going to be a concrete jungle dominated by a Tesco Store.

In the east of the town we have a large Morrisons, in the town centre there is a large Waitrose and to be completed by the end of the year, a large Sainsbury's. We already have rows of small shops who struggle to keep going, in fact many have failed. Enough is enough.

Why does the settling of the matter still hang fire? There are beginning to be rumours of a Court case! This surely would be the final catastrophe – an appalling waste of public money.

Send Tesco packing! I am sure your department, when times become more prosperous, will devise a far more pleasant and appropriate scheme for Broadwater Road.

Yours sincerely

P.S. My printer is temperamental - not meant to be in red mode.
