Comment: I OBJECT to this amended application. The extension continues to flout the council's own policies for the Conservation Area and the NPPF in terms of the design and materials of the new in relation to existing. Glass and steel may be quick to erect and cheap to build but those attributes cut no ice with officers and members when it comes to applications submitted by householders and businesses in the Garden City. The simple design is often the best and the simple approach is to build all the elevations in brick with details to match the existing. If this does not provide the space and conditions needed for the new offices then tough, you don't bust your own policies to suit yourself.
