Comments	<input type="text" value="I fully object to these proposals. With the wheat quarter development in the area, which has already tried to increase bthe amount of agreed dwellings, I feel the spirit of a garden city is now a thing of the past. I am also massively concerned about parking, the town's infrastructure, (schools, transport links). In the development I live in there is already not enough parking spaces for the current residents. Trains into London were always heaviing (prior to coivd). Again, with the wheat quarter we are going to see a further strain in these areas. I just feel any opportunity to build more flats, any opportunity for developers to make a healthy profit is the priority these days. The actual benefits to the people of the twin are an after thought. If council allow another development in this area, on top of all the others, when will it ever end."/>
