Comments	<input type="text" value="I have 2 main objections: 1) 11 stories high, with minimal green space contradicts the objective of a garden city. The founding fathers had a vision which has inspired city designers around the world. Lets keep it that way. 2) Car parking for 216 parking spaces for 289 homes is far too small. How woud this be managed for electric car chareging? Each space would have to be reserved for a particular flat."/>
