Comments	<input type="text" value="Given the scale of this and adjacent proposed developments. I can only surmise that those backing these proposals care little for the local residents who will bear the brunt of this supposed development and only care about their own areas with little respect for the majority of residents who will have to live in this eventull slum to be. I am sure that local services such as schools, health services will soon break under the strain of an extra 4000 or so extra residents.Do they care about those they should be representing NO only for their own areas that they are trying to protect from further development , should they work for all residents of course but don't hold your breath."/>
