Comments	<input type="text" value="I am surprised Welwyn Garden City would take such a retrograde step as considering the development in view of the condemnation regarding tower blocks for mental health and environmental reasons. You should remember Broadwater Farm and ironically the name of this development is similar. There is no provision for any extra infrastructure, there is already a shortage of G.P.'s in this area and Lister Hospital covers 600,000 people with only 730 beds available in the wards and parking is extremely difficult. Coupled with night time closure of QE11. The police station has already been down sized."/>
