Comments	<input type="text" value="Yet again there are more high density and terribly thought out plans for more flats in an already condensed area of Welwyn 'soon-to-not-be-a' Garden City. This is an outrageous proposal, the idea that we can suffer the extra weight on our already packed infrastructure. Doctors Surgeries are already impossible to get an appointment at. QE2 urgent care seems to be closing soon to out of hours care meaning even more people needing those GP apts or rushing to an already packed Lister. Where will these children go to school? There is already difficulty getting children into the existing schools without the hundreds extra that will come from all the planned developments. What about transport? The trains into London are already crammed, you expect to attract more commuters by doubling the amount of bodies on the trains?"/>
