Comments	<input type="text" value="Yes, [REDACTED], the government inspector, has told the council to plan for build more homes, but NOT MONSTROUS NINE STORY HIGH SKYSCRAPERS in a small area like Bio-Park. This town is a GARDEN CITY, NOT CENTRAL LONDON OR NEW YORK. A town of one story terraced houses with gardens! Yes, the Shredded Wheat grain silo is high, but that should not set a president as to the height of other buildings in that former industrial area. Where is the infrastructure for 850+ people? It is so difficult to get a doctors or dentist appointment NOW. It will be neigh impossible with an additional 850+ additional residents. Please do NOT ALLOW this part, or any part, of Welwyn Garden City to become an ugly eyesore, as this application purposes to do."/>
