Comments	<input type="text" value="I am appalled by this changed development. How can people not see how alien it is to the visual and social ethos of WGC? The Wheat Quarter plans were bad enough, but changing the number of dwellings from 811 to 1241 and taking the height to 11 storeys, how can anything like this be contemplated? It also assumes that residents will have fewer cars so not every 'dwelling' will even have a car space. This proposal should be thrown out, lock, stock and barrel, in my view. Many people agree with me, in fact, every resident I've spoken to."/>
