Comments	<input type="text" value="The proposed height and density of this development, with a scarcity of greenery is not only in contravention of the vision presented to us by WHBC previously, it is also a significantly retrograde step when there has been world-wide recognition of the value of green spaces, even before COVID confirmed that they were priceless commodities for our mental and physical health, and a turning away from high rise accommodation. For this to happen in a Garden City which architects around the world study and come to see and whose Centenary Anniversary we have just celebrated, would be a cause for great shame not just for every citizen who does not stand up to be counted against the proposal, but especially for any who allow it to happen. Please let us go onwards and upwards (but not literally!) not back to the dark ages."/>
