| Comments           | <input type="text" value="I am disappointed that this development seems to be going ahead flying in the face of the Garden City ethos. As far as I understand, the Garden City ethos is for householders is to have land (gardens! - hence the name garden city) included in their plot. This development will change the 'feel' of WGC and its fundamental essence; that for which it has been held up as exemplary. It's sad that Welwyn Hatfield council seems willing to sacrifice. The infrastructure to support such a jump in population is just not there and will have a knock-on effect of creating other problems affecting the quality of life in Welwyn Garden City. I sincerely hope it is not too late for this to be reviewed!"/> |
