Comments	<input type="text" value="My main objection apart from being compleatly against the 5 story ethic, is the lack of parking in the scheme. The Garden City is very short of parking provision . This scheme is ill conceived based on the idea that people will either a) not want cars or vans,or b) not be permitted to have them. If only one vehicle was allowed per dwelling for 720 flats the scheme would require at least 3.5 acres of parking space. I can`t see anything close to that amount of space on the plans, this would result in vehicles having to be parked on the already overcrowded near by roads."/>
